

Potentiostat, #1 and 2

Beamline: Industrial Science

Contact: Burke Barlow

A multipurpose electrochemical characterization tool used for general low current applications, and sensitive electrochemical experiments. Applications include electroplating, inducing/quantifying metal corrosion, measuring impedance, and much more.

Two identical potentiostats are available: One is on a mobile cart to be used at beamlines, while the other normally stays in lab 1072 for benchtop experiments.

