

High temperature stage

Beamline: VLS-PGM

Contact: David Wang

This stage will provide sample heating up to 500 K (+227 °C) for x-ray absorption studies. Silicon diodes are used for temperature measurement. The heating stage is under commissioning.

